LEADING FESTIVAL JOCKEYS – RUBY WALSH NEARING HISTORIC LANDMARK

Ruby Walsh overtook Tony McCoy as the most successful current rider at The Festival thanks to an unprecedented seven victories in 2009. After scoring on Quevega in the David Nicholson Mares' Hurdle on day one, Walsh rattled off three successes in as many races on the second day, winning on Mikael D'Haguenet and Cooldine for Willie Mullins and guiding the Paul Nicholls-trained Master Minded to a second successive victory in the Seasons Holidays Queen Mother Champion Chase. He also triumphed in Thursday's championship contest, the Ladbrokes World Hurdle, on Big Buck's and ended a phenomenal week by winning on American Trilogy in the Vincent O'Brien County Handicap Hurdle and partnering Kauto Star to an historic second victory in the totesport Cheltenham Gold Cup.

Walsh has now enjoyed 24 Cheltenham Festival victories and only needs one more success to equal the all-time record set by Pat Taaffe. His nearest rival among the current ranks, Tony McCoy, rode a single winner at The Festival for the third consecutive year last season, courtesy of a tremendous effort from off the pace on Wichita Lineman in the William Hill Trophy Handicap Chase and has a total of 21 triumphs.

Barry Geraghty moved onto 16 Festival wins after enjoying a successful Cheltenham in his first season as retained rider for Nicky Henderson, recording a first Smurfit Kappa Champion Hurdle triumph with Punjabi and partnering Zaynar to success in the JCB Triumph Hurdle. A trio of victories for Geraghty also included a battling success on the Tom Cooper-trained Forpadytheplasterer in The Irish Independent Arkle Challenge Trophy Chase.

With only Walsh and Geraghty registering more than one victory, several new faces made their first visit to the winner's enclosure at The Festival including Tom O'Brien, nephew of five-time Festival-winning trainer Aidan, and prolific point-to-point rider Jamie Codd. Paddy Flood, Aidan Coleman, Wayne Hutchinson, Will Biddick and Felix de Giles all broke their Festival ducks alongside Brian O'Connell, who partnered Dunguib to a devastating 10-length success in the Weatherbys Champion Bumper.

MAGUIRE HOPING TO TAKE SEASON'S FORM INTO THE FESTIVAL

It is a touch shy of eight years since a youthful Jason Maguire grabbed the limelight with a maiden Cheltenham Festival victory aboard the Polish-bred Galileo in what is now the Grade One Neptune Investment Management Novices' Hurdle.

That triumph came for his then boss, Tom George. Now 29 and firmly established as the number one rider to the advancing force that is the Donald McCain stable, Maguire is beginning to reap the success his talent and dedication have always promised to yield.

With 78 winners (up to Wednesday, February 10) on the board this term, Maguire has already surpassed by eight wins his previous best tally in a campaign (2008/09) and currently sits third in the jockeys' standings behind the impenetrable axis of Tony McCoy and Richard Johnson.

And with The Festival emerging tantalisingly on the horizon, Maguire's thoughts, like all jockeys, are turning to hopes of adding to his two victories at Jump racing's championship meeting that also include a triumph two years ago aboard the McCain-trained Whiteoak in the David Nicholson Mares' Hurdle.

Maguire, a graduate of the Irish pony racing circuit, revealed: "This year, Peddlers Cross is the one that stands out. He has been very impressive in his last couple of runs, so we are very excited to go to The Festival with him."

The McCain-trained five-year-old, who was bought for £100,000 at Brightwells Cheltenham Sale in April, is unbeaten in three races under Rules and has been imperious in two starts over hurdles, most recently on January 23 when landing a Haydock Grade Two over an extended two miles by 16 lengths.

"It has not been decided yet whether he runs in the Spinal Research Supreme Novices' Hurdle or the Neptune Investment Management Novices' Hurdle. He won his bumper well at Haydock, was very impressive at Bangor and then stepped it up again at Haydock on his last run. He has improved again and there is no reason why he should not continue to progress, so we just hope he can get there in one piece."

Also on The Festival trail is Whiteoak, who could bid for a second success in the Grade Two David Nicholson Mares' Hurdle, although she will have to rediscover her sparkle after a couple of disappointing efforts.

"Whiteoak is doing well at home. Obviously, she was very disappointing at Ascot; why that was, we are not sure, but she won well at Kempton over three miles on soft ground in November and was impressive that day. Hopefully, we can freshen her up and get her to Cheltenham fresh and well.

"Fiendish Flame is another - he won well at Musselburgh and could go for the Jewson Novices' Handicap Chase.

"Will Be Done could be a possibility for The Festival but I am not too sure what the plans are. He won a hurdle race all right at Leicester and then went to Ascot recently for a handicap chase but things were not right with his jumping that day.

"He is entered over hurdles again at the weekend so we are not sure about him. He is entered in the Ryanair Chase and the Albert Bartlett Novices' Hurdle."

With good young horses like Any Given Day, Comhla Ri Coig, Khachaturian, Alegralil and the National Hunt Chase entries Youngstown and Fabalu, as well as old hands such as Cloudy Lane resident at McCain's Cheshire stable, Maguire has plenty of talent to work with.

But the rider has not been short of exciting outside rides this season either. One of those is the Gordon Elliott-trained Carlito Brigante, whom Maguire has partnered to a pair of victories at Musselburgh.

The Grade One JCB Triumph Hurdle hope will be reunited with Davy Russell at The Festival but Maguire was enthusiastic about the Haafhd gelding, who defeated Alaivan to land a Grade Two under Russell at Leopardstown in December.

"When I rode Carlito Brigante the other day he had improved a lot from his first win at Musselburgh in November. He won a good race at Leopardstown and the last day at Musselburgh it looked like the track might be too sharp for him but he has won despite that. It could be that good ground at Cheltenham, with that stiff finish, might bring out the best in him."

Being a nephew of former jockey Adrian Maguire, the rider is aware of the pitfalls lurking around every corner. His uncle, one of the finest jockeys of his generation, was often beset with ill-luck as well as tragedy as March approached and was restricted to a Festival tally of six winners.

With the McCain stable in such cracking form this winter, Maguire's foremost hope is that both the horses and he remain healthy for the remainder of the campaign.

"The stable is in form and it is all going well right now. It is my best season ever, so hopefully we can keep it going and the horses stay healthy. I just go out there and ride as many winners as I can. We have about three months of the season left so it is full speed ahead to try and get that first century and maintain my place in the top three in the jockeys' table.

"Riding a winner at The Festival and winning the Grand National are what I used to dream about as a youngster. It was a great experience when Galileo won but you probably do not realise what it means the first time. I definitely enjoyed the second winner more, I had a better appreciation of the achievement

"I am looking forward to Peddlers Cross and hopefully I will have a nice book of rides. I will be very happy if I can ride one winner."
