LEADING TRAINERS AT THE FESTIVAL

Few things are more coveted by trainers than a victory at The Festival at Cheltenham and no current handler has enjoyed more success than Nicky Henderson, who can boast 34 winners at Jump racing's premier event including three successes last season.

Indeed Henderson, whose first Festival victory came in 1985, is equal second on the all-time list alongside Martin Pipe. Only Fulke Walwyn, who sent out 40 winners over 40 years, has enjoyed more success.

Paul Nicholls continues to rapidly gain victories at The Festival, having landed a record five wins last year to move him onto 25 wins in total. The champion trainer came agonisingly close to becoming the first trainer to ever to triumph in four championship races at the same Festival – winning the Seasons Holidays Queen Mother Champion Chase (Master Minded), the Ladbrokes World Hurdle (Big Buck's), the totesport Cheltenham Gold Cup (Kauto Star) and sending out Celestial Halo to finish a neck second in the Smurfit Kappa Champion Hurdle.

Ireland's most successful current trainer is Edward O'Grady with 18 victories, although Willie Mullins is catching up fast after saddling three winners last year to move him onto 15 successes. Local trainer Jonjo O'Neill is on 16 winners, while Philip Hobbs and Alan King have both enjoyed 11 successes apiece, one more than Nigel Twiston-Davies.

HARTY EYES SECOND FESTIVAL SUCCESS

Trainer Edward Harty enjoyed his first success at The Festival when Captain Cee Bee won the Spinal Research Supreme Novices' Hurdle in 2008. This year, the same horse is back for more and currently heads the ante-post market for The Irish Independent Arkle Trophy. Having missed the entire 2008/09 season, the nine-year-old made a winning return to action in a beginners' chase at Naas on December 3 and was then well in contention when falling at the last in a Grade One contest at Leopardstown on Boxing Day. His Cheltenham preparation was completed with a comfortable success back at Naas on February 6.

Reflecting on his 2008 success, Harty commented: "We didn't plan to give Captain Cee Bee such a long break before Cheltenham in 2008 but the weather conspired against us. It was bottomless ground for the Royal Bond Novices' Hurdle at Fairyhouse and we didn't want to risk him, so we gave him a little break that December.

"He was supposed to run at Punchestown in early February but there was a mini-blizzard during the first race, and the field were finishing like drunken sailors, so we pulled the plug on that run as well.

"We knew he was going to be a fair horse from day one and, as time went on, he started to look the real deal, even before his first run. My father had named him after my grandfather, which was a brave call because usually these things go pear-shaped and come back to haunt you.

"The real making of him was actually when he had three runs on the Flat in 2007 - Kevin Manning rode him a couple of times. The horse really learnt from having a top-flight professional Flat jockey on him and going over a shorter trip on decent ground. He won at Killarney by nine lengths and J P (McManus, owner, who subsequently purchased Captain Cee Bee) happened to be watching the race and he was very impressed with the speed he showed.

"He won his first start over hurdles for his new owner at Punchestown in October, 2007, and beat a decent field. I already had the Supreme Novices' Hurdle at the back of my mind at that point and he got into the public eye on his next start when he took on some good horses in a winner of one race and annihilated them.

"In fairness, it was a good training performance to get him to win at The Festival on the back of a four-month lay-off, but you need a good horse to do it. Sometimes, you are possibly better off going to Cheltenham one gallop too short as opposed to one gallop too many.

"A P was all set to ride him but I was told at 9.55am on the Monday that he was going to be riding Binocular instead, so there was a bit of a panic until I found out that Robert Thornton was available. I had no hesitation in getting him to ride Captain Cee Bee because he rides Cheltenham so well and I knew that the horse wasn't going to lack from the saddle if he was on board.

"The pressure came off a little bit after the declarations because the media decided to latch on to other horses. I was talking to Robert before the race and I told that the one thing that would beat us would be stamina, so he should get to the front no sooner than the last and if the horse is good enough, he is good enough.

"Robert rode him to perfection - once he came on to the good ground, it was like taking a Ferrari off gravel and putting it on Tarmac. He was going away at the end and, if you take Captain Cee Bee out of the race, then Binocular was an easy winner."

Harty, 48, comes from a background steeped in racing history. His father Eddie rode the 1969 Grand National winner Highland Wedding, while his brother Eoin is a successful trainer in the US and handled the 2009 Dubai World Cup victor Well Armed.

Harty continued: "My family have been associated with steeplechasing long before the original Captain Cee Bee and nobody had managed a winner at The Festival. So it was the whole package to win with a horse named by my father after his father for J P McManus - it was a relief to get the monkey off the Harty family back. He was my first runner in England and he did the business."

However, the following ecstasy turned to agony less than a month later as Captain Cee Bee was pulled up at Aintree after suffering from a broken blood vessel and he did not return to the racecourse for almost 20 months.

Harty said: "Aintree was totally the flip-side - I went from my best day's racing to my worst in the space of three weeks. I'll take the plaudits for winning at Cheltenham, but I also have to take the blame for taking him to Liverpool. He had a long lay-off prior to The Festival and, in hindsight, it was bridge too far to bring him back so quickly.

"The bleeding problem he experienced there has never raised its head before and after, so it could have just been one of those things. I spoke to John Oxx and he told me about good horses that have bled once and never done it again, so I am hopeful that it won't return.

"Having won the Supreme Novices' Hurdle, there is always the temptation to return for the Smurfit Kappa Champion Hurdle the following season. But we always thought of Captain Cee Bee as more of a chaser and Binocular was the ideal candidate to carry the hurdling flag for J P McManus.

"We didn't want to delay his career over fences but he got a leg days before he was due to run and ended up missing the whole of the 2008/09 campaign. My wife Marie, who is also my vet, picked it up very quickly and between her quick diagnosis and the care he received from J P McManus' camp, meant that he came back at the end of last year raring to go.

"I actually think that he has improved for the rest. All horses have to mature at some stage, when they go all gangly and need time to strengthen up again. If you can persist with them, then they can come back and reproduce their previous level of form.

"He has won twice now on very heavy ground and he can handle it now because he is a stronger horse. Conditions on his latest start at Naas were far from ideal but, whereas two years it wouldn't have been fair to run him, this time it wouldn't have been fair not to run him because he enjoys racing so much.

"He is where we want him to be now - he needs a couple of bits of work but nothing too strenuous. He doesn't have to prove to me how fit he is and he doesn't have to burn up the gallops to prove it. I just want to keep him ticking over, let him strengthen up, and bring him over in good form.

"The last time we went he hadn't run for four months so we were trying to get the horse to a peak for Cheltenham, whereas now the work is all done and I am just keen to get him there. It's a totally different set of circumstances, but it doesn't necessarily make it any easier.

"It's certainly going to be a very good race at Cheltenham and he goes there with a favourite's chance. I know Henry (de Bromhead) thinks a lot of his horse (Sizing Europe) but I think that Captain Cee Bee would have beaten him at Leopardstown at Christmas - he was cantering when he came down. Even the fall wasn't a proper fall - he just pitched a bit steeply."

THE THOMAS PINK LEADING TRAINER AWARD

For the fourth consecutive year, Paul Nicholls was leading trainer at The Festival in 2009. He sent out an unprecedented five winners over the four days, including victories in the Seasons Holidays Queen Mother Champion Chase (Master Minded), the Ladbrokes World Hurdle (Big Buck's) and the totesport Cheltenham Gold Cup (Kauto Star). All three horses are the current ante-post favourites to regain their crowns this year and the champion trainer is almost guaranteed to be a short-priced favourite to take the Thomas Pink Leading Trainer Award once again. There were three seconds as well, notably Celestial Halo who was beaten a neck in the Smurfit Kappa Champion Hurdle and Denman who chased home stable companion Kauto Star in the totesport Cheltenham Gold Cup. Nicholls, if he wins the 2010 totesport Cheltenham Gold Cup, will become the joint most successful trainer alongside Tom Dreaper in the great race.

His chief rival could again be Nicky Henderson, who moved up to equal second on the all-time list for Festival winners courtesy of three victories headed by the success of Punjabi in the Smurfit Kappa Champion Hurdle. The master of Seven Barrows looks set to have another strong hand in the race this term as well as elsewhere during The Festival because of a raft of novice chase talent including the likes of Punchestowns, Long Run and Riverside Theatre. Henderson now has four successes in the Smurfit Kappa Champion Hurdle and if he achieves victory in the hurdling championship this year he will join Peter Easterby as the race's leading trainer.

Alan King, Philip Hobbs, Jonjo O'Neill, David Pipe and Paul Nicholls are among those to be respected and will be fighting to the finish of The Festival 2010 to collect the Thomas Pink Leading Trainer Award, while the challenge from Ireland is always strong and Willie Mullins will have a chance to become the first trainer based in Ireland to win the award since 1996.

The Thomas Award Leading Trainer Award will be decided on the number of winners trained over the four days. If there is a tie, it will go down to the number of second places. If there is still a tie, the number of third places will be taken into account and the award will be shared if there remains a tie after that.
